Motivational letter

To whom it may concern,

My name is Anna Somm and I'm currently studying International Affairs with side focus on Business and Economics at the University of Saint Gallen, Switzerland.

From September to December 2021, I'll be spending my exchange semester in Hongkong. I chose Hongkong because I'm very interested in international businesses, transnational politics, and intercultural affairs. As I'm very ambitious, curious, and motivated, I seek to gain work experience in Hongkong before or after my exchange. Hence, I'd like to complete an internship or do a part-time job because I'm convinced that the skills and knowledge, I'd be able to gain would be incredibly valuable. My Swiss University's exam period finishes in July and the University restarts at the end of February, so I could be available from mid-July to the beginning of September as well as from January to February with the possibility of further extension.

I'm keen to join a multinational team and would be excited to bring in my analytical skills, creativity, and drive as well as my knowledge to communicate in German, English, Spanish, French, and basic knowledge of Mandarin which I further want to develop during my stay in Hongkong. I'm very open regarding the potential sector of activity – preferably it would be near my academical focus (such as banking, business, communication, consulting, legal, management, public policies, services, trade etc.).

I can assure you that I'll be a valuable addition to your team and that I'd be grateful and proud to become part of it.

Thank you very much for your consideration and best regards.

Anna Somm
