

SMART RECIPE SPECIALIST (Swiss German Native Speaker)

We are looking for a SMART RECIPE SPECIALIST for our Swiss German recipe database who is as excited about food as they are about tech to take the world's leading food bloggers and brands' recipes and optimize them on SideChef's cooking platforms. You will be joining an enthusiastic and busy team so must be happy to work under pressure to meet tight deadlines.

WHAT YOU'LL DO...

- Responsible for optimizing recipes into SideChef signature Smart Recipe format
- Must master recipe database systems, including entry and maintenance of recipes and menus in SideChef recipe uploading tool
- Tag recipes to make them more discoverable for quick search in the app and for easy sharing online
- Find and crop recipe images to ensure recipes appear their best
- Meet targets and deadlines
- The scope of work will include communicating missing information from recipes, accurately completing tracking logs, and communicate progress on recipe entry
- Review recipes to ensure they have an accurate logic and flow
- Provide quality assurance testing for new or updated German content, including (1) consistency of information across the client documents, and (2) consistency and accuracy in grammar, spelling, punctuation, and design (in line with the SideChef style guide, language syntax, branding guidelines, and other best practices)
- Regular audit of the app and recipes, checking for bugs, inconsistencies, and errors
- Reporting technical errors to the product and engineering team and working with them to debug issues
- Editing recipes on a regular basis and potentially photo, video, and audio editing
- Resolve issues and requests from clients

WHO YOU ARE...

- You are extremely good at paying attention to detail
- You have solid and accurate data entry skills including proofing (grammar, punctuation, and spelling)
- You have the ability to follow guidelines but also use your own judgment
- You are a quick learner and happy to ask questions when stuck
- You have a positive attitude and, of course, must love food!
- You are a native Swiss German speaker and proficient in English
